

BEAUTY ED'S FAVE

My top beauty rule is to never reapply make-up on a night out. One can get a little heavy-handed after a few drinks, and constant mirror-gazing isn't a good look. But I can't help it with Elizabeth Arden's Bronzing Beauty Kit – I whip it out to create cheekbones and sparkly eyes with the shades. Hey, rules are meant to be broken!

CHRISTY TURLINGTON

What's the secret to Maybelline model Christy Turlington's enduring beauty? Her philosophy is simple: 'Inner health is reflected outwardly. True beauty is the result of this kind of harmony.' The balanced beauty is influenced by her studies in the Indian science of Ayurveda – 'It's holistic care,' she explains. And the 39-year-old is a master, having practised stress-relieving yoga, meditation and clean living for more than a decade. To DIY, quit relying on pricey potions. Channel Christy's spiritual, down-to-earth attitude, clean up your diet, nurture your mind and make time to chill out and you'll soon start seeing a difference on the inside.

Sixty-plus and still

Harry (right, at age
38) says sheep cell
injections keep her looking young

CELEB SECRETS

While Demi Moore, 45, has admitted to using leeches to detoxify her blood, old-school rocker Deborah Harry, 63, has revealed her anti-ageing secret is black sheep cell injections. Seriously! 'I had these cells injected into me in my early thirties. They took [cells] from the liver, glands and bone,' reveals the Blondie singer of the treatment that was a pioneering medical advance, back in the day. 'Whether that treatment lasted this long, I don't know, but I feel great!' Dr Benjamin Norris from Sydney's Silkwood Medical is sceptical. 'This is not a treatment that I have any experience with myself. I find it hard to believe that a single injection of anything would last for 30 years. I'm not sure how this would work in the first place.' In other words, don't try this at home!
