

USANA'S DIGESTION DETOX

PRODUCTS SUPPLEMENTS FOR ALL ASPECTS OF YOUR DIGESTIVE HEALTH

The digestive system provides your body with a foundation for true health. If you're not healthy in your gut, the probability of health issues throughout your body increases. Because of this, it makes sense to give your digestive system any assistance you can. That's where USANA's Digestion/Detox products come in. Together, the specialized supplements assist the body's digestive functions.

Once food has been broken down, unused particles must be eliminated. Fibergy® Plus helps sweep the wastes and toxins from your system. It also serves to keep your colon healthy, promote healthy bacterial growth, and promote regularity.

USANA® Probiotic assists digestion throughout the small and large intestines, helping to break down food particles even further and helping the body absorb more key nutrients. It also works to restore the balance of good bacteria in the belly and promote sound immune function.

Many harmful toxins can be absorbed into the bloodstream from food, water, or air. The liver serves as a chemical filtration plant where detoxification occurs. Hepasil DTX® supports the liver's natural detoxification power while fending off oxidative stress that accompanies the detoxification process.

USANA's Digestive Enzyme is a powerful supplement that helps make your digestion more efficient, so you receive more nutrients from the food that you eat. The chlorophyll from the spirulina in Digestive Enzyme may also bond with certain toxins you have ingested, supporting natural mechanisms for moving them out of the body.

The right mixture of good bacteria, enzymes, and fiber are central to picking up the nutrients we need and sweeping out the toxins and wastes that we don't. USANA Digestion/Detox products complement each other to help you safely and gently maintain your digestive and liver health.

USANA's Digestion/Detox products were inspired by a partnership with Sanoviv Medical Institute, which firmly believes that good digestion is at the core of good health. All of the products listed here are proudly offered to guests at Sanoviv.
