

Raising the Bar

Looking at the competition, it isn't difficult to realize that USANA® Foods are a level above the rest.

Developed by USANA scientists, USANA Foods are nutritionally balanced, providing the optimal ratio of carbohydrates, complete proteins, and beneficial fats to help maintain optimal health and an ideal weight. A meal replacement lacking this balance deprives you of the nutrients your body needs to function at its peak. In short, you need the correct amount of fats, carbs, and nutrients to keep your body strong and healthy. Which is why USANA Foods are the best.*†

Excessive intake of high-fat, high-glycemic, sugar-loaded foods has been proven in multiple studies to diminish your health rapidly and accelerate poor health-related conditions. USANA Foods are formulated to be low glycemic, low in sugar, and low fat. Diets that are low in saturated fat and cholesterol may even reduce the risk of heart disease, a disease associated with many factors.*

Furthermore, USANA Foods have been clinically tested, and their low glycemic foundation is scientifically based, meaning that the ingredients are formulated to produce only small fluctuations in blood glucose levels for sustained energy and to keep you satisfied longer.*

You can even taste the difference. Other health shakes can be chalky, distasteful, or just plain bland, leaving you in a state of utter disappointment—and often with a bitter taste in your mouth too. Why should you have to sacrifice taste for health? Why can't nutrition and flavor combine to form one delicious meal? With USANA, you don't have to pick and choose. All our healthy products come in a variety of delectable flavors to satisfy even the pickiest of taste buds.*
