

U.S. Speedskating Team

The United States Speedskating Team is an influential force in winter sports competition, having won 75 Olympic medals since 1924. Most recently, at the 2006 Games in Torino, Italy, the US squad won the most total medals for the United States. Speedskating has become the most successful winter Olympic sport in US history. In 1999, USANA partnered with the US Speedskating Team to be its official supplier of nutritional supplements. The long-standing partnership has helped assure the optimal health of the elite American athletes as they compete on a world stage.

“US Speedskating thanks USANA for contributing to the sport of speedskating by meeting the nutritional demands of our athletes as we pursue greatness at the Vancouver Winter Olympic Games in 2010.”
